SIX YOUNG BOYS CAUSE A PANIC IN COURTHOUSE

Women Flee in Terror From Animals in Sioux Falls Building.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—Six wolf puppies escaped from a box in the office of the county auditor and for a time had full possession of the building. Young women employees in the county office were panic-stricken when the six wolf puppies ran wild through the corridors and offices.

The puppies had been taken to the county auditor's office by Campbell, a farmer for the purpose of being neglected to kill the animals and bring in only their skins which would have been sufficient for bounty purposes.

Women Seek Place of Safety.

The women employees sought every conceivable place of safety while the wolf puppies were being rounded up by attaches of the sheriff's and other officers. Work was suspended during the excitement.

One of the wolf puppies headed down a hall and dodged into the sheriff's office. Another dashed across a corridor and lay in the clerk of court's office. A third took possession of the vault in the auditor's office, and the others distributed themselves as rapidly as possible in out of the way corners of the building, from which they were dislodged with difficulty.

Wolves Ran Wild.

Friendly Pat Brings Bite.

The panic resulted when Mrs. Verne Haas, register of deeds, reached one of her hands into the box to pet the head of one of the animals. It instantly fastened its teeth in the flesh of her thumb and lung desperately on. In striving to release herself Mrs. Haas pulled the puppy from the box, and this left the way open for the other five to crawl out of the box and dash about the county building.

Campbell, captor of the wolf puppies, after they had all been recaptured and replaced in the box, was told the puppies would have to be dead before the county auditor would consider the matter of paying bounties on them, so he took them away and chloroformed them, later bringing back the carcasses and receiving the bounty on them.

Prisoner Tells How He Slew Nine Persons

Tampa, Fla.—How a man killed nine persons, five of them because of an error in an effort to cover up a crime, has just been revealed here. The man is R. E. Lewis, whose arrest for the slaying of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Merrell and their three children caused a riot in which five men were killed and more than a score injured.

Last June, as a result of an argument over a woman, Lewis killed C. H. Alexander with a knife. He is said to have confessed to a limited killing of Lee Boyd, in whose house Alexander lived, and Boyd's mother and daughter.

Another brother, Edward Rowell, knew of the slaying, and Lewis decided to slay him, too. He went to the home where it would find and killed the five persons sleeping there. The victims were the Merrell family, however, for Lewis had loved one of the number, a girl named Mary.

As a result of Lewis' story Leonard Thompson, a local newsman, in connection with the previous murders.

Stroller Stubs Toe

on Costly Ambergris

Los Angeles, Calif.—This is my lucky day," sang W. H. Richardson of Pasadena, as he strolled the sands at Laguna beach. He stubbed his toe and fell, but continued to sing. Then he looked down and found he had fallen over a large mass of ambergris, weighing more than a pound, and the consistency of wax. Richardson was told he had made a valuable find, as perfume makers cannot get enough ambergris for their needs.

SECTION WORKERS KILL BIG RATTLER

Giant Texas Reptile Weighs 113 Pounds.

Raymondville, Texas.—Section hands at Rudolph, a station on the Missouri Pacific line in Kendall county, north of here, killed a rattlesnake which weighed 113 pounds, according to the section foreman, Will Reeves, who was in Raymondville.

Reeves stated that the rattlesnake had 24 rattles and measured four inches across the head. He said the monster snake crawled right into the midst of the section crew, before they were aware of its presence, and began striking at the men, all the time making a hideous whirring noise with its rattles. He was 11 feet long.

The men killed the reptile by plunging crowbars into its body, after the manner of throwing spears.

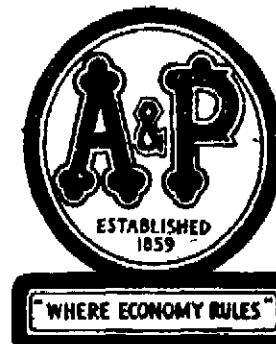

Reeves states that he has lived and worked on the Missouri Pacific line as section foreman in Kendall county ever since its construction through those wilds, and that he has killed rattlers with as many as 40 rattles, but that it was the largest one that he had ever seen.

Shoe-Making Statistics

The Foot and Shoe Recorder says that no one makes an entire pair of shoes. There are about 120 different operations on a shoe before it is finished. Each operator works on a machine or process, which contributes to the complete shoe. The number of pairs turned out daily by any factory depends upon the size of the plant, machinery, equipment and quality of the product. Such output ranges from a few hundred to 10,000 or more pairs a day. A factory making high-grade shoes and employing 300 men and women might produce, at full capacity, 800 or 900 pairs daily. The same number of people working on cheap shoes might produce 3,000 pairs daily.

Humane Menageries

Karl Harnisch was the first showman to train large carnivorous animals of different species to perform together. He also introduced a new way of exhibiting animals in outdoor menageries. In his zoological garden at Steffingen, a suburb of Hamburg, there were no fences or wire about the cages occupied by groups of large mammals, broad masses of water between the cages.

In Memoriam.

In loving memory of our dear son, Van Demark, who was killed in the war, who was killed in the war, who was killed in the war.

Over the river, a sweet face I see,
As the morning looking for me,
From his sorrow, grief and despair,
Waiting and watching patiently there.

Looking for someone, beckoning come,
Bright as a sunbeam, pure as the dew,
Always looking, dear one, for you.

He complained of feeling ill and then expired. Mr. Roberts was a private in Company F, Seventh Infantry, of the Third Division. In the big drive on Belleau Woods in France during the World War he was wounded in the neck and spine which left him a cripple for the remainder of his life. After many days in the army hospital overseas he was returned to his home here. Although so crippled he received a total disability pension from the government. During the Mass the choir sang under the direction of John Schwalb, organist and choir leader of the church. After the Mass, a eulogy was given by the Rev. John Seythorn, C.S.S. R., and he paid a glowing tribute to her Christian charity and devotedness of her life to God in the caring of her patients. He also spoke of her kindness, always willing to aid any

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

Paris—Georges Clemenceau is curious. Hearing of the reports in the United States that he was dying he remarked: "I wonder who is after my scalp. Who wants to kill me off so soon?" He was strolling along the boulevards at the time.

London—Friends of the Earl of Oxford and Asquith are raising a fund to present him $100,000 and an annuity of $12,500. As a former cabinet member he is entitled to a pension of $10,000 on condition that he sign a declaration that he is impecunious.

Washington—The Smithsonian Institution has sent a motor truck expedition to the Rockies for data with which to complete the unfinished work of the late Dr. Charles D. Walcott on geology. He was secretary of the institution.

Jericho, N. Y.—John J. Ticks observed his 93rd birthday by plowing a field from which he had been gathered. He is a descendant of the original Hicks for whom the Long Island town of Hicksville was named. For 50 years he has operated a cider mill.

Hollywood, Calif.—Constance Talmadge is on the way to Europe for a good time. "If I find time enough," she remarked, "I may get a divorce."

Moscow—Films made in Russia are to be shown in the United States, the official Soviet newspaper is informed.

Garden City, N. Y.—Lieutenant Alford Williams, N. S. U., commutes to Washington by plane. Daily he flies for his duties in the bureau of naval aeronautics, then hops back to look over a new speedster seaplane being built for him and to rejoin his family.

SHAWANGUNK ASSOCIATION IN REFORESTING MOVEMENT.

Albany, July 25.—The Shawangunk Fish and Game Association of Middletown, N. Y., has for several years taken a very active interest in the reforestation movement and this year is out to capture, if possible, the Whipple forestry cup. John Wilkin, secretary and treasurer of the club, in a recent report of the Conservation Department, said: "Our tree planting for the 1927 season was finished with. I think the best results we have ever had. Our spring plantation looks as though at least 95 per cent would come through, and we think we will win the Whipple cup this year as we have about 600,000 trees to our credit. We have cut lanes five hundred feet and have about fifteen miles."

The Shawangunk Association has been an active supporter of Middletown's municipal forest and Mr. Wilkin has assisted in making practically all of the plantations since it was first started.

The club also reports that trout fishing has been fairly good, and that the bass season opened up with some good catches, the largest being 5 lbs. and 10 oz., which was taken at Monroe.

Mr. Wilkin reports that the pheasants handled by the association have hatched out fine and they have them everywhere.

Death Claims Dr. W. E. E. Little

ten as he was, but there never has been a man who was defeated so many times and yet had the confidence of the public to such an extent that his nomination for another office was promptly demanded. And certainly no man in Ulster or any other county in New York state ran so far ahead of his ticket and failed of election by such slender pluralities. A large part of the voters of Ulster county never grew tired of voting for Dr. Little, but his personality, his generosity and unselfishness furnished the motive which undoubtedly would have continued indefinitely to influence voters if the doctor had lived.

The few public positions which Dr. Little held during his life were filled most creditably. In 1888 and 1889 he was selected health officer of the town of Rosendale, and the following year, 1890, he was elected coroner for a term of three years. Coroners' bills had not begun to grow to the proportions which later caused the coroners to be placed on a salary of $500 each; Dr. Little's charges as coroner were based on the plan as his charges for professional work for private patients, and a salary of $500 would have been more than acceptable. In 1893 occurred the Democratic slump following President Cleveland's second election; the head of the ticket carried the county by 30. Dr. Little was defeated for re-election by 27.

His Political Record.

For twelve years continuously, from 1896 to 1907 inclusive, Dr. Little served the town of Rosendale as supervisor. During that time he was twice called on by the Democratic party to become a candidate for county office; although defeated, each time he ran ahead of his ticket.

In 1900 he was nominated for county clerk. William Jennings Bryan headed the Democratic ticket that year and lost Ulster county by 1,980; Dr. Little lost it to John D. Fraisher by 826. Four years later he was nominated for county treasurer against Archibald McLaughlin, also of the town of Rosendale. The county gave Roosevelt a plurality of 1,845 over Judge Alton B. Parker, were defeated, Dr. Little suffering only 158. In the last year of his term as supervisor, Dr. Little was nominated for assemblyman in the second district and was elected over the Hon. Solomon P. Thorne of Clintonville by a majority of 712. He had accepted the nomination against his better judgment, because legislative work interfered with his practice during a time of the year when sickness was most prevalent, and declined a renomination.

On March 20, 1909, Judge Betts appointed him a member of Ashokan Dam Commission, No. 14, his associates being Edward Murphy, Jr., of Troy and John C. Fitzgerald of New York city.

In 1910 he was nominated for county treasurer against Albert H. Cook, Jr., who was completing his first term. Mr. Cook defeated him by 214.

Removed to Kingston.

In 1911 Dr. Little removed to Kingston, which was to become his future home. His practice in Kingston had been increasing and the town of Rosendale was losing a considerable part of its population by reason of the closing of the cement industries.

In 1913 the Democratic party again called on Dr. Little to become a candidate for county treasurer. The highest majority given by the county that year to any Republican candidate was to District Attorney Traver, which was 6,204. Dr. Little ran 5,412 ahead of his ticket in the county and was defeated by County Treasurer James Lounsbury of Kerhonkson by 792.

The following year, 1920, the Democratic party again called on Dr. Little to become a candidate and nominated him for sheriff. There was an overwhelming Republican victory which gave Harding and Coolidge a plurality of 10,225 and gave Governor Miller a plurality of 5,555. Again Dr. Little showed his tremendous power as a candidate by running 7,440 ahead of his ticket.

William H. Kolts being elected by the smallest plurality given to any candidate in Ulster county that year—2,785.

Carried Kingston Overwhelmingly.

In both years, 1919 and 1920, Dr. Little had carried the city of Kingston overwhelmingly. In 1919 he carried it over Mr. Lounsbury by 1,814, and in 1920 he carried it over Mr. Kolts by 1,064. In each of these years he was confined to his home during practically all of the campaign and was unable to do any canvassing among voters. During both years his illness was of such a serious nature that it was uncertain whether he would live to take office in the event of his election, and that fact was generally known among voters throughout the city and the county.

Candidate for Mayor.

His strong record as a runner led to his selection as the Democratic candidate for mayor in 1921. At the time he was first mentioned as a candidate, Dr. Little was ill and urged that he should not be considered. He did not want the office; he felt that he could do no more than what he could do was to promise that if elected he would try to the best of his ability to give the city a clean, progressive, economical administration of city affairs. During the campaign he was unable to make any canvass, but he embodied his views on city affairs in several letters to the voters which were published. He was defeated by Walter P. Crane by 765 majority.

Never Complained.

Dr. Little's good nature was proverbial. If he ever was angry, nobody can recall the incident. This strong trait led to his being the victim of impositions occasionally, but he quickly forgave those who imposed on him and was ready to respond to the first call made by them for his professional or other aid. Nobody heard him complain of any wrong or injustice he had suffered at the hands of any person; if the subject was mentioned he simply smiled and said it reminded him of such-and-such a story which when told led to another funny story until the genial doctor had put his friends in the same good humor which always radiated from him. He had a marked degree of the ability of putting people in good humor quickly and his visits always were welcome in the sick room. Sometimes he was brusque for a few minutes, but his brusqueness was only assumed for the purpose of impressing on his patient the necessity of following his instructions.

No Call Unheeded.

No call for help that reached his ears ever went unheeded if it was possible for him to answer it. During his residence in the town of Rosendale he was in constant demand, and as his patients lived in a large area he was constantly traveling by horse and sleigh or horse and wagon. He kept several horses and one was always harnessed in its stable. When he came to Kingston he followed the same course. The general introduction of the automobile made traveling easier and he could reach distant parts of the county with greater ease. During his periods of illness in the past few years he found it necessary to give up a large part of his out of town practice, but he frequently attended to city calls at times when he was strongly advised that such action might have serious results for himself. But like most physicians he felt the call of duty strong.

Since his residence in Kingston, it was not an infrequent thing for him to leave his bed two or three times during the night to answer a call from some out of the way place in the country, although he knew perfectly that he would not make any charge for the call because there was no money to pay a charge if it was made, just as there had been no money to pay for similar calls from the same families for a period of many years. He might return from his last call at four or five o'clock in the morning, but at eight o'clock he was ready to start out on his day's round of calls, looking as fresh and cheerful as though his night's rest had not been interrupted. That condition was not unusual but it occurred night after night over a long period of years, as neighbors freely can attest. Asked one day why he did not give first consideration to his own health, especially in cases where patients had had ample chance to call him while he was making his rounds, a sober look came over his face and he answered:

His Philosophy of Life.

"They are all good people but some of them don't understand; when they send for me, they need me; somebody's in pain and they don't know what to do, that's why they send for me. And they suffer just as much if they haven't a cent as if they had a million dollars, perhaps more; that's why they need me."

Then he changed the subject by telling incidents of busy calls which he had answered only to find the supposed sick person had gone to sleep as soon as the message had been sent for him, and felt entirely cured on being awakened. Of course, such cases were not of everyday occurrence, but they were frequent.

"Now wasn't that a joke on me," he said, and laughed as if the experience of losing two or three hours' needed rest was one of the funniest that could befall a person. "I tell them they ought to be more careful," he added, "but when they think they need me, it's just the same as if they did. Life is so short to do anything else than what I do."

Young Stillman's
Wedding TuesdayElaborate Preparations for Wedding

Sweetheart Described—Wilson Opposition to Marriage Overcome—
Four Priests Will Officiate.New York, July 25 (AP).—Elaborate preparations for the wedding tomorrow of James "Bud" Stillman
and his north woods sweetheart, Lena Wilson, were described in dispatches to New York newspapers today from Grade Anse, Que.Four priests of the Catholic Church will officiate at the marriage of the 18-year-old French-Canadian girl to the son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Stillman, prominent and wealthy members of New York society.The marriage will take place outdoors in a rustic setting at the forest camp of the Stillmans. Lumberjacks and natives of the district will attend as guests together with some of the most prominent society members of the States and the Dominion.A broad wooden platform has been erected where residents of the Three Rivers will dance the old fashioned square dances to the music of accordions and violins.Yesterday young Fowler McCormick, son of Harold F. McCormick of Chicago, and prospective best man at the wedding, in overall was swinging an axe and hammering with the other laborers in completing final touches for the ceremony.The last opposition to the marriage on the part of the Wilsons is said to have been overcome with the signing by "Bud" of an agreement whereby any children of their union would be reared in the Catholic faith.The Rev. Fr. Ephrem Lamy, cure of Grande Pile, who has known "Bud" since he was a youngster and Lena since she was one year old, declared that there is no truth in reports of family disruption because of jealousy shown Lena by her six sisters.Dissertation as to Educational Essentials

Ruskin says: "An educated man ought to know three things: First,
where he is—that is to say, what kind of a world he has got into, how large
it is, what kind of creatures live in it, and how; what it is made of, and
where he is going—that is to say, what chances or reports there are of any other world besides this; and what seems to be the nature of the other world. Thirdly, what he had best do under the circumstances, what are the readiest means in his power of attaining happiness and diffusing
it. The man who knows these things, and has his will so subdued that he is ready to do what he knows he ought,
is an educated man; and the man who knows them not, is uneducated, although he could talk all the tongues of Babel."

Dismissing Country

It has been estimated that if the work of erosion performed by water on the total surface of our country were concentrated on the isthmus of Panama, it would suffice to cut a canal from ocean to ocean 85 feet deep in about 75 days.The average annual erosion presented by water in the United States corresponds to the removal of a layer
about 2 1/2 feet thick in 2,000 years.
It is figured that our rivers transport every year 220,000,000 tons of solid matter and 213,000,000 tons of matter
in a state of suspension.

World's Most Tragic Man

Chance plays a smaller part in life than some people think. The least beginning may lead to the greatest end. Every day, hour and minute men are building or something to build. Events that they attribute to luck are really always due to some cause, though it may be long and far gone. Frequently worthy beginnings of the most promising kind have led to consequences beyond the wildest dreams or wishes. There is only one really tragic figure in life, and that is the man who never makes a start.
—American Magazine.

Punishment by Ostracism

Ostracism was a method employed by the ancient Athenians of banishing citizens whose influence was considered prejudicial to the state. A day for voting was fixed, when the people wrote on small earthen tablets or shells the names of those whom they wished banished. Six thousand votes were necessary to drive a man into exile. The ostracism today means to banish, to exclude from a certain social circle.Greatest Hookup
Hears RutherfordInternational Bible Students' Head's
Speech Broadcast by Fifty-three Stations—Elaborate Hook up Result of a Date Accepted in an Irritated Moment by National Broadcasting President.New York, July 25 (AP).—The distinction of speaking over the greatest hookup in radio history today is held by Joseph F. Rutherford, head of the International Bible Students' Association and arch foe of "organized Christianity."Fifty-three stations yesterday broadcast throughout the United States and rebroadcast to Europe and Australia an address by Rutherford
before the association's convention in Toronto, in which he urged his hearers to "desert organized Christianity," which he termed an "unholy alliance against the common people of the earth."Officials of the National Broadcasting Company, over whose chain the address was broadcast, said that within a few minutes after its close a dozen telephone calls were received at WEAF, their principal station,
from persons who severely criticized Rutherford.The address was broadcast at the hour usually reserved for the Greater
New York Federation of Churches.
It previously had been explained that the elaborate hookup was the result of a date accepted in an irritated moment by Merlin H. Aylesworth, president of the National Broadcasting Company, at hearing before the Federal Trade Commission in Washington.Rutherford had accused Mr. Ayles-

House, Lights OutDuring the severe electrical storm of Saturday evening the chimney on the house of Policeman Raymond Van Buren on Andrew street was struck by a bolt of lightning. The bolt entered and passed down to the ground. The bolt did not cause a fire and the occupants of the house were not shocked.The storm, which was accompanied by a rainfall of torrential proportions
at times, caused considerable damage throughout the city and county.
There was also a heavy wind preceding the rain, which broke down limbs of trees, scattering them on the highways and making automobile traffic very dangerous.There was an interruption in the electrical service in the uptown section of the city from 8:48 until 9:33
during the storm. In the district around Greenkill avenue a limb from a tree struck a feeder. The electrical repair crew were soon at work and the service was restored. In the downtown section of the city at 8:23
service was interrupted for one minute
due to a circuit breaking.Traffic was very heavy in the city at the time of the storm and many automobilists drove their cars to the curb and remained there until the storm subsided.The heavy fall of rain resulted in many mud banks being formed throughout the city. Sewers were unable to carry away the water and great pools were formed.

WAYS WITH STRAWBERRIES

This luscious berry needs no advertising of its lusciousness. "God might have made a better berry, but doubtless God never did."

Its unique shape, its color and delightful flavor unite in making it the queen of all berries and a delight to the palate.

Strawberry Manhattan.—Take one and one-half cups of strained strawberry juice, two tablespoons of lemon juice, one-half cup of sugar, one-half pint of heavy cream, one teaspoonful of vanilla, one-fourth cup of powdered sugar. Wash the berries, drain and let stand 15 minutes. Crush the fruit, add sugar and let stand in a warm place for half an hour. Press the fruit through a double cheese cloth. Add the lemon juice, and, if needed, more sugar. Pour into a wet mold. Whip the cream, add the powdered sugar and flavoring, and carefully heap on top of the strawberry sauce. Cover with buttered paper, then with the cover mold. Do not jar, so that the juice and cream will blend.

Pack in Two Parts Ice and one part salt, crushing the salt very fine. Let stand at least three hours, draining off the water and replacing with ice. To unmold dip the mold into cold water, wipe dry and turn on to a serving plate and slice. There should be a layer of frozen cream and one of strawberry ice.

Snow Pudding.—Take one package of strawberry gelatin, one tablespoonful of sugar, one cupful of boiling water, one-half cupful of cold water, two egg whites. Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water, add the sugar, and cold water. When almost set beat with an egg beater until stiff. When the mixture holds its shape pile into sherbet cups and serve. Garnish with crushed fruit well sweetened.

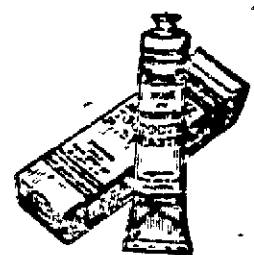

Hot chocolate or cocoa is improved with a slight flavoring of vanilla or cinnamon.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

The Circular Skirt Again Finds a Bid for Favor, Especially in the Sports Mode.

New York—There seems to be a definite movement afoot to reinstate the circular skirt into the sports mode. Patou is held largely responsible for it, we hear, although several others of the haute couture have added their approval.

The new circular skirt, of course, is not just like anything that has come before. In the first place, it is flared at the front only, and is always flat across the back. Then, the circular godets are inserted in narrow, geometrical series, and stitched, so that the effect is tailored, not ruffled. The hip-line is close-fitting and snug. Many of the newest frocks reveal a sort of pulled-around effect, accomplished by tabs that tie or buckle on one side of the jumper. Such a silhouette as this circular skirt will introduce, is primarily feminine, an adjective that we must remember in choosing our new sports frocks. The day of the strictly masculine—the garcon type—of sports frock has passed, we are told by those who claim to know.

The clever use of seamings gives a chevron effect to the jumper and a flared line to the skirt of this two-piece wool jersey model. The color is dark brown, with bands of light and dark rust shades knitted into the material.

It would seem that before now horizontal stripes would have exhausted their possibilities, but such is not the case. They appear in new groupings and new widths, occasionally dip into chevron or slant into diagonals, but are always with us. Some very effective uses of stripes are now seen in borders, where several contrasting shades are cleverly worked into the fabric, the colors being repeated in appliqued trimming touches elsewhere on the frock.

Do women read advertisements?

DO YOU? Do you clip recipes from the fascinating messages that advertise a new salad oil, a new frying fat, a new cake flour? Do you think twice about your skin, those wrinkles at the corners of your eyes, your telltale past-thirty neck because of beauty ads that bring romance about happiness, love and youth?

IN planning advertisements, the question is often asked, "Do women read advertisements?" The experienced advertiser answers, "Yes—if they are interesting and instructive to read."

THIS is the spirit of the best modern advertising. More and more, the ideal is to show you definitely how a new product can work to your well-being, your pleasure in life, your greater happiness. By reading advertisements, you can be a better housewife, a more efficient house manager, a shrewd and thrifty buyer. The advertising pages of this newspaper contain information that is valuable and important. If you do not read advertisements, join the large army of women who do, in order to know the best things to buy for yourself, your children and your home.

Reading advertising regularly is keeping up with the times in the most economical way.

Old Oak Chest
In Church SteepleOak Chest 261 Years Old Removed From Its Hiding Place in Steeple
of First Reformed Dutch Church of Kingston.A genuine antique in the shape of an oak chest two hundred and fifty-one years old was rescued from oblivion in the steeple of the First Reformed Dutch Church on Friday
by Sexton Harry D. Sleight and on Sunday was viewed with interest by the congregation and visitors in the vestibule of the church.The chest was chained to the woodwork in the steeple by a hand-forged iron chain. Mr. Sleight remembered the chest was in the steeple when he first went there as assistant to the late Peter Blackwell, who for many years was sexton. At that time it was filled with old Dutch records and Dutch account books which now are among the church archives and are kept in a vault at the Kingston Savings Bank.
The chest, however, was never removed until Friday, and in the years since Mr. Sleight had last seen it, one of the iron chains had been removed.Removal of the chest disclosed
carving in the front of the chest, which faced the woodwork as long as the chest was chained fast to the steeple.

The inscription reads:

16—Februrari—74
A. R.The initials "A. R." are supposed to stand for "Albert Roosevelt," who was one of the early settlers of Kingston and for many years promi-nently identified with the church

follows:"A person who shall use any seal,

about a fishing trip and lion is not

Kingston All-Stars Are Outclassed By Colonial Nine

Culliton Has Easy Time; Blanking All-Stars—Schwab Hits Two Over the Fence—Large Crowd Watches Contest—Sahloff Plays Good Game For All-Stars.

Any fear that the Colonials were to have their crown swept away by a rebellious subject was thoroughly dispelled Sunday afternoon at the Fair Grounds as Bosses Culliton and Robins directed their warriors through a 10 to 0 trouncing of the Kingston All-Stars. The Colonials' supremacy of Kingston's baseball kingdom was as safe as it has ever been in the past six years for never once during the contest did the All-Stars summon sufficient strength to even threaten to score a run. The most brilliant features of the contest was Bud Culliton's ruling; with an iron hand and Bill Schwab's battering down the fences with circuit clouts.

Bud Culliton, himself, went out to defend the Colonial crown from the rubber and was as stern in his treatment of enemy batters as the knights of old. He allowed the All-Stars but four hits during the entire contest. Furthermore the Colonial manager never once experienced trouble from the start to the windup of the struggle. He struck out ten men and gave no walks. Five out of the nine frames but three All-Stars went to bat an inning and the game went down in history without one of the enemy setting foot on second base.

Bill Schwab Wars. Bill Schwab waged a war with Dewey Van Buren for twice the Colonial outfielder smashed into the horseshoe and sent it out for circuit clouts. Bill drove out his first one in the fifth frame with Loesser on the bags. This drive went over the left field fence. Schwab made himself a total of three homers in two games when he strode to the plate in the eighth and hoisted another homer over the left field barrier at the spot where the batter gets a new straw lid for his labors.

Colonials Score Early. The Colonials started off with three runs the opening frame and after that kept up a steady stream of markers across the platter. Three walks and the third baseman's error gave the Colonials their spoils in the initial frame. When Hoffman secured another pass at the beginning of the second and Carter clouted a double the Colonials got two more runs in the second. Carter scored his run this inning after a daring steal from third to home.

Dewey Van Buren had his most trying moments in the fifth when Schwab broke out in a fierce mood. After Bill had accounted for two this inning, Joe Hoffman got aboard on a fielder's choice and stole about everything not under lock and key. He stole second and he and Carter got together on another steal for Hoffman to score. Van Buren gave three of his ten safeties in the seventh and Hoffman brought around another run. Joe doubled and came in on a sacrifice. With Schwab's final murderous blow in the eighth the Colonials ended their scoring for the day.

Sunday marked the first time in the past couple months that the Colonials have had the breaks in the weather and a large crowd turned out. Furthermore it was one of the most spirited crowds to attend this season for both the Colonials and the All-Stars had their lusty rooters.

From now on opposing pitchers will be a little bit more wary when Bill Schwab comes to bat with his terrible war club.

Joe Hoffman was the busiest Colonial running the bags for he lugged three runs around as well as getting a double for himself.

Willard Sahloff, former K. H. S. baseball captain and college player, who has been playing with the All-Stars since school was out, performed in brilliant style. Bill picked them up beautifully at short and several times he grabbed almost impossible ones.

Maurice McDermott, one of the Colonials' most consistent hitters, was the only Colonial unable to connect for a hit.

Now it is won 14, lost 7, .667 per cent.

Orange County Circuit Races

Big String of Entries for Three Days' Meeting at Endicott—Races at Monroe, Goshen and Middletown Will Follow.

Endicott, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Orange county circuit light harness horse racing opens at Ideal Park here tomorrow, continuing on July 27 and 28, and then moving to Monroe, Goshen and Middletown for further competition.

The purses for the events at Endicott will total $310,000, the stakes for the 2:09 trot, 2:10 pace and 2:15 trot being $5,000 each and those for the two and three year old trots $3,000 each.

There have been 230 trotters and pacers nominated for the ten races on the program and the largest entry received has been for the Sun Briar Court stake for two year old trotters, 44 being listed. The purse is $3,000 and Willis Sharpe Kilmer of Blaghamton will give $100 to the driver and $20 to the caretaker of the winning horse.

Thirty-five three-year-olds are on the book for the trot in that class. Entries for the other events are: 2:09 trot, 19; 2:18 trot, 16; 2:10 pace, 7; 2:12 trot, 26; 2:15 pace, 25; 2:15 trot, 15; 2:21 trot, 34; and 2:05 pace, 9.

Most of the leading trainers and owners who are familiar figures in the Orange county circuit will be in Endicott with their stables. Will Dickersons will bring E. Roland Harriman's string from Goshen and Tommy Murphy will send a delegation of his horses from Syracuse. Walter Cox, Townsend Ackerman, William H. Leese, A. S. Rodney, Fred E. Hyde, C. E. Pittman and "Ed" McGrath are among the outstanding drivers.

The stretch in the Ideal park track has been widened ten feet since last year, eliminating much of the danger attendant to starting races when there is a big field.

At the close of the Endicott meeting a special train will be provided to take horses to the Monroe meeting. The local program is as follows:

Tuesday—"Martha Washington" stake, 2:09 trot, $5,000 purse. "Endicott Workers" stake, 2:18 trot, $2,000 purse. "Arlington Hotel" stake, 2:10 pace, $5,000 purse.

Wednesday—"Sun Briar Court" stake, 2-year-old trot, $3,000 purse. "Endicott Coal and Supply Co." stake, three-year-old trot, $3,000 purse. "Fowler, Dick and Walker" stake, 2:12 trot, $2,000 purse. "E. B. Jermyn" stake, 2:15 pace, $2,000 purse.

Thursday—"Sisson Bros-Welden Co." stake, 2:15 trot, $5,000 purse. "Pratt Lumber" stake, 2:21 trot, $2,000 purse. "Ideal Farm" stake, 2:05 pace, $2,000 purse.

SPARTANS DROP GAME TO SCHENECTADY NINE

The Spartans and the Radio Club of the General Electric Co. of Schenectady battled Sunday at Schenectady, the game resulting in favor of the Uptate team, score 6 to 4.

Battery for the local club was Hahn and Corregan, pitching and Berlan, catching. For the winners, Borden, pitching, Logan, catching.

The Spartans scored in the first inning and were quiet until the sixth when they added another. They also scored two runs in the seventh. The Schenectady team tallied their first runs in the fifth, collecting two. They added one in the sixth and three in the seventh.

Stumph and Hasbrouck did the heavy work with the stick for the locals. Schenectady hit safely four times for the winners.

RONDOUT A. C. LOSE AT FLEISCHMANN'S—PLAY TONIGHT

The Fleischmanns Club downed the Rondout A. C. at the former's grounds Sunday, score 6 to 2. In the first inning the winners scored five runs.

Tonight the Rondout A. C. will meet the Kingston Gas and Electric team at Block Park.

Scoring two runs in the ninth frame put the game in the Pan-Am's bat bag against the Gardiner nine at Gardiner Sunday. The winners were trailing 1 to 0 when they went to bat in the ninth.

The Kingston Cubs won Game. The Kingston Cubs defeated the Guildy All-Stars Sunday at Block Park. The final score was 8 to 3.

Tagging Major League Bases

(By The Associated Press.)

Concluding an 18-game road trip that earned them 13 victories, the New York Yankees were on the road home today for a two weeks' stand in their own stadium against western invaders.

Babe Ruth wanted to square matters with Lou Gehrig in their home run marathon before reaching New York, so he knocked one out of Comiskey Park yesterday. The wallop enabled the Yanks to beat the Chicago White Sox, 3-2.

The Philadelphia Athletics took the surprise jolt of the day in Cleveland, losing a doubleheader to the Indians, 9-6 and 5-2. Connie Mack's outfit felled poorly, turning in five errors for the afternoon.

The winning streak of the Detroit Tigers, which had reached five games, was ended by the tall end Boston Red Sox, who batted Gibson for an 8-7 decision. The Tigers overcame a four-run lead acquired by Boston in the second inning and had the tying run on third in the ninth.

Washington pounded Alvin Crowder, a former team-mate, to win from St. Louis, 11-6. Ernie Wingoard, succeeding Crowder, fared little better and gave way to Van Gilder, who was belted for five hits in three innings. The Senators slammed out 15 hits while Zachary was touched only for scattered singles.

The give-and-take battle between Chicago and Pittsburgh for first place in the National League showed no change today. The Cubs split a doubleheader with Brooklyn, losing the first in ten innings, 3-2, and winning the second, 7-1. The Pirates followed suit and merely reversed the order against the Giants. Pittsburgh won the first game, 11-6, and the Giants the second, 9-3. Carmen Hill was credited with his fifteenth pitching victory of the season in the opener. A seven-run bombardment by the Giants in the sixth won the windup contest.

The Cincinnati Reds, continuing their drive toward the top rung of the second division, flattened out the world's champion Cardinals, 9-4. Grover Cleveland Alexander was batted out in the seventh and two St. Louis pitchers who followed him were treated similarly.

Rooter Keeps Ball, but Conscience Hurt

An unusual occurrence happened the other day at the Pennsylvania council on athletics office in Philadelphia when Ernest A. Cozens, the graduate manager of athletics, opened his mail.

Enclosed were two $1 bills with the following note: "Here is a little conscience money. The temptation to keep a ball caught in the stands a few weeks ago was too strong." The note was simply signed "Rooter."

BELL, BLUEGE "WHIFF" KINGS

Both Have Fanned Five Times in Single Game.

Striking out five times in a ball game is anything but an enviable record. Incidentally it is a very unusual performance from several angles.

Just to give you some data for comparison, Joe Sewell, playing 155 games for Cleveland in 1925, struck out only four times. In 1922, Charles Holoher in 152 games for the Chicago Cubs whiffed only five times.

Yet on May 12 of this year, Lester Bell, of the St. Louis Cardinals, the player who led the world champions at the bat last season with a mark of .325, struck out five times in one ball game.

The only other player in the majors who has performed in a similar manner is Ossie Bluege, of Washington.

It is a rather strange coincidence that both Bell and Bluege are third basemen, rated good hitters. Bluege had his bad day June 17, 1923. In each instance the games went 11 innings before a decision was reached, both players were at bat five times and in each case wended back to the bench a strike-out victim.

Bell was a victim of right and left-handed pitching. Burtleigh Grimes, the eminent spitballer of New York, fanned Bell in the first, fourth, sixth and ninth innings. Southpaw "Dutch" Henry, who relieved Grimes, registered the fifth strikeout in the eleventh session.

Only four players in the history of the majors have fanned five times in one game. Henry Rowling was the first victim of such a happening back in 1890.

Scott Perry, pitching for the Athletics, just 20 years later, April 23, 1919, was the second player to have such a bad day at the bat. Perry always was a much better pitcher than batter. Then followed Bluege and now Bell joins the group to make it a sad quartette.

Goose Goslin Slugs

"Goose" Goslin of Washington wielded the big bat which has put him up among the first five hitters in the American league in games played so far this year. The "Goose" is one of Washington's most consistent hitters.

Hornsby Thinks Flowers Will Strengthen Robins. Rogers Hornsby, who managed the St. Louis Cards to a world series last year, thinks that D'Arcy "Jake" Flowers will make the Dodgers a very valuable man.

"Flowers did not have much chance to play last season because of Tommy Thorenson's work," Hornsby said when the trade that sent Flowers to the Robins was announced, "but he is a mighty good ball player."

"He is a very good fielder now and will improve as time goes on. The best thing about Jake is that he has a punch. He should certainly help Brooklyn."

Baseball Paid Its Way in France Last Season

Baseball, the once despised "Yankee" sport, is steadily gaining favor in France, as evidenced by the fact just made public that it was one of the two sports that paid its way at the Racing Club de France last year. The other was tennis.

The year 1926 was not a money making one for the racing club, most prominent of French amateur organizations, and the total deficit of the year was in the neighborhood of $2,000. Rugby football was the heaviest loser, costing about $1,000 more than the receipts.

Baseball, however, was a money maker, and the total receipts of the year were in the neighborhood of $10,000.

"This new package" experts say, "is an almost perfect seal for tobacco condition"

REMEMBER how the soft foil cigarette package replaced the pasteboard box! Well, here's the same idea applied to pipe tobacco:

A heavy foil pouch, sealed in an extra wrapper of glassine

Experts say it is more "air-tight" than the ordinary pocket tin... it keeps Granger in perfect condition... fresh and full-flavored indefinitely! Another thing:

Foil costs less than a tin hence Granger's popular price

London, July 25 (AP).—The Prince of Wales, who is bound for Canada aboard the Empress of Australia, visited the ship's gymnasium with his brother, Prince George, soon after the steamer left Southampton, and Wales, mounting the electric horse, said, "This is what I shall enjoy most. It won't throw me."
Thoroughly enjoying the freedom from official duties, the Prince of Wales, Prince George, Premier and Mrs. Baldwin and the other members of the party spent their first full day at sea under happy auspices. The travelers mixed freely with other passengers in saloon and on deck.

Puzzles and Questions Taboo

Don't Let Anyone Catch You, Says Professor Shaw. Who Proposes List of Questions Which Would be Definite Indication of Intelligence If Answered Affirmatively.

"Don't let anybody see you working a Cross Word Puzzle or trying to answer the questions in 'Ask Me Another.' If you are caught at it, you will be put down as a moron, or at least as one who is trying to get out of the moron class," warns Dr. Charles Gray Shaw, Professor of Philosophy, at New York University. "The person who was addicted to the old Cross Word Puzzle and who has switched to the 'Ask Me Another' is one who wishes to show that he is not in the class of morons. This intelligence test, self-imposed, is something left over from the war. When men were assembled in camps, it was doubtless necessary to know how much gray matter there was per capita, so that there had to be a measure for the mind as well as drill for the body. But there is no longer that need."

"The intelligence craze is only an age-old curiosity and ancestral egotism showing itself in the form of up-to-date psychology," Dr. Shaw informs. "Men used to consult the stars to find out how they affected the individual's destiny. They looked to prophets with the same confidence that one now puts in lawyers. They went to fortune tellers, clairvoyants, mind-readers, palmists, numerologists, and they are still going."

"Everybody is curious about himself and what is going on in his brain. If it were not for such egotistic curiosity, the photographers would starve, for it is the desire to see how one looks that makes one sit for one's picture. The 'Ask Me Another' is only a species of mental photography whereby one can see how his brain looks. The question book is only a camera for his mind."

Dr. Shaw explains that the people who devote their time and energy to tinkering with puzzles and questions have become aware of the fact that there is such a thing as "intelligence." "Intelligence quotients" and "morons." These people have become alarmed at the moronic wave which seems to be sweeping the land, and desire to save themselves from it. Such people take personal pride in being "smart," but for all that they are evidently on the defensive, and wish to show themselves, if no one else, that they are not mentally inferior. "It could show itself better," continued Dr. Shaw, "by having people know what the news is about, not merely what the paper says in its current issue. The well disciplined mind is like a hall through which one passes, not an attic cluttered up with odds and ends of miscellaneous information. Intelligence really is something creative and expresses itself through imagination. Such imagination," he goes on to say, "figures out a certain situation and then looks for the facts to corroborate what it has fancied."

Professor Shaw's own test of a person's intelligence is expressed in a short list of practical questions which follow:

"Do you frequent night clubs?
Do you believe half of what the papers say about Mexico?
Did, or do, you play Mah Jong?
Did you read enough of the Browning case to know who 'Peaches' was?
Do you ever, of your own free will, remain within earshot of a saxophone?
Do you admire the Charley Chaplin films?
Do you believe the moon affects the weather?
Do you read, or look at, Tabloids?
Do you wear spats?"

If any person gives assent to the majority of such questions, it matters not how high his rating in the nominal intelligence test of asking another question. Dr. Shaw infers that his practical mentality is decidedly low. "It is so low," he concludes, "that mere rote memory, which is all the 'Ask Me Another' requires, cannot redeem him."

Pythian Knights Meet at Buffalo

Largest State Convention in History of the Order Opens With Attendance Expected to Exceed 2,500—Convention Will Close Friday.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—For the first time in 38 years, this city today and for the remainder of the week will be host to the Knights of Pythias, domain of New York, at the annual grand lodge convention. Including members of the women's auxiliary, the Pythian Sisters, the number of delegates attending is expected to exceed 2,500, the largest in the history of the state conventions.

Registration at the Hotel Statler, the convention headquarters, occupied the early hours today, while at night a formal reception will be held in the hotel ballroom for Grand Chancellor Harry Nathan, Richard S. Witt, supreme chancellor, and Mrs. Ada Belle Onion, supreme chief of the Pythian Sisters, will be the principal speakers.

The formal opening of the convention will take place Tuesday morning, while at noon the delegates will honor the memory of William M. Kinley, a one time member of the order, by placing a memorial wreath at the base of the McKinley monument in Niagara Square. Former Senator Henry W. Hill, supreme representative, will have charge of the exercises at the monument. Dedication of the new Pythian temple in East Utica street Tuesday night is expected to be one of the most impressive features of the gathering. Addresses will be delivered by prominent members of the order, and special entertainment and dancing will be provided afterward. The meeting of the grand lodge will be resumed on Wednesday morning, and at night the Dramatic Order, Knights of Kohorassan, will conduct a ceremonial meeting in the new temple.

Thursday morning will be devoted to a memorial service at the Delaware Avenue Baptist Church, conducted by Supreme Representative Hill. That afternoon and evening the delegates will attend a field day at Crystal Beach, on Lake Erie.

At the closing session on Friday morning officers for the ensuing year will be installed, and appointments made by the grand chancellor. Side trips to Niagara Falls and other vicinity points of interest have also been arranged for the delegates. Special trains will be run here from various New York state points to handle the large number of delegates expected.

Injuries Fatal To Young Men

Michael Murphy, 17 years old, of Hollis, L. I., died Sunday at the Benedictine Hospital. Young Murphy was brought to the Benedictine Friday, July 15, with a fractured skull at the base and had never regained consciousness.

The young man was boarding in the vicinity of Cairo, Greene county, for the summer, and together with four other boarders were motoring at Cairo, when the car in which they were riding was forced off the road. The car turned over and the occupants were pinned beneath. Their shouts brought help and they were rushed to the Benedictine in automobiles. Murphy was the most seriously injured. The other victims are recovering.

The parents of the young man and Undertaker James V. Halloran accompanied the remains Sunday evening to Hollis, where burial will take place.

Aviator Killed By Auto Crash

Waltham, N. Y., July 25 (AP).—W. Knox Martin, Detroit aviator, who came here Saturday to act as bearer at the funeral this morning of Jack Garlock, killed in a plane crash last week at Lomax, Ill., died late last night in a local hospital of injuries received Saturday night in an automobile accident. His death was the second resulting from the crash, Miss Marie Lafave, 25, succumbing shortly after the car overturned. Three others were less seriously injured.
